

An hourglass-shaped graphic with a globe in the top bulb and another globe in the bottom bulb. The hourglass is light blue and has a dark blue cap at the top. The globe in the top bulb is dark blue, while the globe in the bottom bulb is light blue. The text is centered within the hourglass.

WikiLeaks Document Release

<http://wikileaks.org/wiki/CRS-98-142>

February 2, 2009

Congressional Research Service

Report 98-142

Days Reserved for Special Business in the House

Judy Schneider, Government and Finance Division

May 19, 2008

Abstract. This report provides a table and descriptions of the several rules of the House of Representatives for certain types of business to be privileged for consideration on specified days.

WikiLeaks

CRS Report for Congress

Days Reserved for Special Business in the House

Judy Schneider
Specialist on the Congress
Government and Finance Division

As presented in the following table and described below, several provisions in the rules of the House provide for certain types of business to be privileged for consideration on specified days, some under special procedures. For more information on legislative process, see [<http://www.crs.gov/products/guides/guidehome.shtml>].

Table 1. Days Reserved for Special Business

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday
Every Monday: Motions to suspend the rules	Every Tuesday: Motions to suspend the rules	Every Wednesday: Motions to suspend the rules Call of Committees under the Calendar Wednesday procedure
Second and Fourth Mondays: Motions to discharge committees Consideration of District of Columbia business	First and Third Tuesdays: Consideration of measures on the Private Calendar

- Motions to suspend the rules are in order every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday (Rule XV, clause 1). A suspension motion may be debated for 40 minutes (equally divided between a proponent and opponent), may not be amended from the floor, and must pass by a vote of two-thirds of those present and voting. In addition, the suspension procedure effectively waives all rules of the House that would prevent consideration of a measure, so that no points of order may be raised against a measure being considered under suspension. House rules place no formal restrictions on the types of measures that may be considered under suspension, but party rules effectively restrict the procedure to use in considering relatively noncontroversial measures.

<http://wikileaks.org/wiki/CRS-98-142>

- Motions to discharge committees (for measures that have been placed on the Discharge Calendar after securing signatures from a majority of Representatives (218 with no vacancies) on a discharge petition) are in order on the second and fourth Mondays of each month (Rule XV, clause 2). If a discharge motion is successful, the measure may be considered in the House or the Committee of the Whole, as appropriate.
- Consideration of District of Columbia business (for measures on either the House or Union Calendar) is privileged on the second and fourth Mondays of each month (Rule XV, clause 4), and could occur in the House or the Committee of the Whole, as appropriate. This privilege is rarely used in modern practice.
- Consideration of measures on the Private Calendar is privileged on the first and third Tuesdays of each month (Rule XV, clause 5). Private bills are those of a private, rather than public, nature (i.e., they apply only to specified individuals, corporations, or other entities). Measures called up from the Private Calendar are normally passed by unanimous consent. However, if two or more Members object to the measure, it is recommitted to the committee that reported it. The Speaker is required to direct the clerk to call measures on the Private Calendar on the first Tuesday, but consideration on the third Tuesday is discretionary. Consideration of measures on the Private Calendar may also be dispensed with by two-thirds vote.
- The Call of Committees under the Calendar Wednesday procedure is privileged every Wednesday (Rule XV, clause 6). Any measure not otherwise privileged would be eligible for consideration in the House or the Committee of the Whole, as appropriate, under this procedure. However, under modern practice the procedure is routinely waived by unanimous consent.